Poem Writing

Instruction: Write a poem starting with the line: 'I stand alone in darkness,'

Output (VS):

- ... like a lighthouse lost at sea,
My beacon cuts through shadows, calling out for ships to see.
Though waves of doubt crash wildly and storms of fear rage on,
I'll shine until the morning brings the hope of breaking dawn. (Prob: 0.11)
- ...

Output (Direct):

... Where shadows whisper my name,
The silence holds its secrets, While starlight plays its game.
Yet in this quiet solitude, I find my truest voice— Not lost within the emptiness, But learning to rejoice.
