

BikeScout Pro Race Strategy Report

Technical Director Briefing

We have 155.29 km with 2245.6 meters of climbing on the menu. It's a leg-breaking, rolling parcours that perfectly favors a strong breakaway or late puncheur attacks. Expect conditions around 20C with winds at 10 km/h. It all comes down to a late, explosive finale. The decisive move will likely happen on the explosive wall / attack point at km 151.93, just 3.4 km from the line. It kicks up to 25.0%. Be perfectly positioned before this point. If you have the legs, this is where you commit. It's a long day. Stay hydrated early so you have the clarity to make the right move in the final 20km. Let's go execute.
